SEALSKINS IN JULY.

Consoling Thoughts During the Ex-

"If Washingtonians will drift their "If Washingtonians will drift their thoughts out to the Pacific coast and allow them to linger a moment on my town," said a San Franciscan, "they can cool off by the imaginative process, for in the Golden Gate city ladies are to be seen on Market and Kearney streets in July and of Market and Kearney streets in July and this place." on Market and Kearney streets in July and August wearing sealskin jackets and furs, and these garments or an overcoat are always worn in the afternoon in a drive out through the park to the Cliff House.
"Although San Francisco is about on the same parallel with Washington, lying between the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth parallels, the climate is utterly dissimilar, and the thermometer ranges in summer from 65 to 75 degrees. When it rises to 80 degrees the people think they are sweltering, and if it gets up to 85, as it frequently loes, they know that they are dying from the heat. To see the garments I have spoken of worn in the middle of summer strikes an eastern man as the very height of incongruity, especially when he bears in mind that a medium to heavy suit of under flannels is an accompaniment. "While in the interior of California the thermometer crawls up daily to 100 and 110 in the shade the heat is dry, the perspiration is absorbed and sunstroke is unknown. At night in the interior, no matter how hot it has been during the day, one sleeps under a blanket. This is true all over California, and particularly in San Francisco. The latter city, being on a peninsula lying between the Pacific and the bay, is swept by the trade winds from the ocean, and these winds in the summer are cool and damp, being accompanied by what is local-"While in the interior of California the these winds in the summer are cool and damp, being accompanied by what is local-ly known as the 'sea fog,' a heavy white misty fog, which rolls over the city in misty fog, which rolls over the city in huge banks every day during the summer in the afternoons.

"The motormen on the cars all wear overcoats at night. There is no sitting 'out front,' as here, and no white lawn dresses or white duck or linen suits. In the store windows flannels are exposed all the year around and light overcoats also. Flannels are indispensable. There is but little change in these anomalous conditions in the so-called winter months save that it rains in these months and does not during the summer months. It is a standing joke in 'Frisco that to perspire one must go into the interior to bring the moisture to the skin, and this is true.

"Washington is essentially the abode of the summer girl. She flourishes here as nowhere else in the United States, and she is a joy and delight to gaze upon; a thing of beauty. The swiftly moving open cars are packed nightly with the summer girl, hatless, with fluffy hair tossed in the breeze, and garbed in the most killing summer gowns, often cut low in the neck and always a la mode. Tis a sight worth a visit to this city to see her in all her glory. Out of one hundred summer girls on the cars eighty-five are without hats, with their ringlets done up in the most fetching and heart-breaking twists and fluffs. It takes a heart of adamant to resist their fascinations, and when they are all in a bunch they are like a lot of blushing roses, or, in the vernacular of the day, a whole basketful of peaches, luscious and appetizing.

"No other city is so favored as is Washington in the respect that the lawns in front of the dwellings permit the inhabitants to sit out and enjoy the cool of the evening. It was one of the many advantages which first appealed to me. The car service is magnificent, and it is possible to get out into the country in the evening in a few minutes. The suburban resorts are many and are cool and pleasant. When one contrasts it with Philadelphia—well, aren't you glad you are here?"

The Viewpoint of Experience.

It was put on in response to popular de-mand, and it cannot be expected to be self-sustaining from the outset. CURRENT SPORTING NEWS We've put on sale today just

> It is doubtful if there has been such gathering of champion tennis players in any single tournament within many years as was seen at the Longwood tournament yesterday, says the New York Tribune, for besides all three of the American team for the coming international matches, Champion Whitman, Davis and Ward, there were ex-Champion Wrenn, Chace, Larned, Wright, George Wrenn, Ward, Little, Paret, Davidson and a lot of other less noted players on the courts during the afternoon. 'Bob" Wrenn practiced two sets with Ward, and today he will make his first appearance in tournament play since he went to war with Roosevelt's Rough Riders. He caught the fever in the trenches outside of Santiago, and he has not got it out of his system yet. His physical condition looks bad, but he seems to have regained most of his old-time skill in play.

The feature of the day's play was the The feature of the day's play was the four-hour match between George Wrenn and Leo Ware. Each got one of the first two sets, and then Ware forged ahead by taking the third. No one by the name of Wrenn has ever been known to be beaten easily, however, and George Wrenn kept up the family reputation for plucky up-hill work, pulling out the fourth set after some heart-breaking play, and finally winning the match by taking the fifth and deciding set after a hard struggle. It was any-body's match up to the last point, and Wrenn was five times within a point of winning before he finally got the last set. Davidson caused some surprise by win-Davidson caused some surprise by winning the second set of his match with Davis, but he could not stand the pace after that, and got only one more game, after the score had reached 4—all in the third set.

after that, and got only one more game, after the score had reached 4—all in the third set.

Davis will play Carleton today, Wrenn will meet Little, Larned will play Foster and Wright will have Keyes for an opponent. The semi-finals are expected to bring together Davis and Wrenn and Wright and Larned, when two great matches are looked for. The finals between the winners will take place Friday, and the challenge match against Champion Whitman for the Longwood challenge cup Saturday, if rain does not upset the present programs.

The doubles were started yesterday, and will be continued today, when ex-Champion Wrenn will make his first appearance. Chace has been improving steadily in his play, and he and Larned will make a strong team in the doubles.

SEEN IN LONDON

THROUGH ENGLISH SPECTACLES.

A London dispatch to the Associated Press states that Sir Claude Macdonald's message, dated July 4, appealing for relief, is regarded in London as only a prelude to the absolute confirmation of the massacre. This is the opinion also of the Japanese minister here. The newspapers suggest that the British minister's dispatch was held back and released about the same time as Mr. Conger's undated message.

Although the American and British forces are working harmoniously, the question of means of communication between Taku and Pekin gives evidence of jealousies between the powers, and other dispatches from Tien Tsin show that the language difficulty has been hampering the military operations.

Confusion Among the Allies. A dispatch to the Daily News from Tien

Tsin, dated July 14, and describing the fighting, says: "Col. Liscum mistook the road and was

He asserts that the admirals have decided that it would be useiess to move toward Pekin without at least 60,000 men Wisdom From the African Campaign.

In an editorial referring to this statement the Daily Mail comments upon the American proposal to advance with 7,000 men. It

"We have learned in Africa how danger ous it is to despise our enemies, and in the interest of civilization, we do not wish to see such a lesson read to the United States by the 'heathen Chinese.'

A whole batch of Tien Tsin dispatches are published today. All praise the gallantry of the Americans and Japanese.

Earl Li Interviewed. The Shanghai correspondent of the Lon-on Times, telegraphing Monday, says: "In an interview today Li Hung Chans relterated his statement that if the Manchu party had been guilty of the horrible treachery involved in a massacre of the members of the legations he would absolutely refuse to attempt to negotiate. He said the present intention of the tsung il yamen was to memorialize the empress dowager to revictual the legations, and then to arrange to send them to Tien Tsin, under the escort of of Gen. Sun Wad Lin. He declared that the fighting had ceased, and that the foreign troops were holding a position south of the Yu Ho bridge, while Gen. Tung Fuh Stang's forces were on the north.

"Earl Li expressed the intention to wait for news of the movement of the foreign legations before proceeding northward. On receiving this he will be escorted by 10,000 troops, who are now mustering in this province. ent intention of the tsung II vamen was to believed China's finances would debar her from paying indemnity, and that the people would never submit to further annexation of territory. He thinks the powers ought to accept assurances of a reformed admin-istration and of the removal of the officials Alleged Temporizing Policy.

"Obviously, LI Hung Chang has not changed his views or his methods, while the puerility of his arguments is increasing with age. The impression is gaining groun here that hte Manchus are temporizing while preparing to retreat to Hsian Fu. confidential member of his staff says that Earl Li will not go north until he is convinced that the empress dowager has seen the folly of her present policy."

A Military Government. A Japanese military representative from Tien Tsin says that at a conference of the ize a military government of the city. Three administrators were appointed—Russian, Japanese and English—with equal power. Japanese and English—with equal power. The city, divided into four farts, has been occupied by the French. English, Japanese and American forces, the last named holding the portion from the south gate to the east gate. The Russians occupy the towns and villages on the left bank of the Pei Ho and the Lutai canal.

Assurances to Lord Salisbury. The Chinese minister to England, Sir Chil Chen Lo Feng Luh, had a long interview with Lord Salisbury yesterday. eral situation was discussed, and the Chi-esi minister reiterated his belief that the British minister to China, Sir Claude Mac donald, and the other foreigners at Pekin, were safe. Lord Salisbury reiterated his demand for direct communication with the minister at Pekin. To this request the minister could only renew his protestations that it would be speedly accomplished, if feasible. He adduced no new facts to prove his assertions. The interview closed with out result.

Despite the Chinese minister's statements and despite Sir Claude Macdonald's letter of July 4, a strong impression continues to prevail at the foreign office that the ministers at Pekin were massacred July 6. The Associated Press correspondent is informed that not one scintilla of evidence is yet in the possession of the foreign office leading them to disbelieve the reports of the mur-der. Sir Claude Macdonald's letter, with its account of severe fighting in progress, merely confirms the government's forebod-merely confirms the government's forebodings.

William Pritchard Morgan, member of parliament for Merthyr Tydvil, whose knowledge of and interests in China are extensive, informed the Associated Press correspondent today that he was positive, from cable messages from his agents, that the members of the legations were alive July 9. When the foreign office was told this, the rejoinder was made: "Mr. Morgan has submitted no evidence to convince us of the truth of his statement, however anxious we may be to believe it."

In Case the Ministers Still Live.

In Case the Ministers Still Live. Consultations are in progress between cab-net ministers and officials as to the course to be pursued should the ministers prove to be alive. The contingency of China holding them as hostages is uppermost in the ninds of all, although the Associated Press correspondent is officially informed that the Chinese diplomats have not yet hinted at such action.

Negotiations b brought out mutual assurances that the military expeditions to China are for the sole purpose of relieving the legations, and sole purpose of relieving the legations, and that there is no intention to partition China. Hence, should China agree to deliver the ministers alive, no power will have a reason for continuing aggressive military operations except Germany, whose minister is undoubtedly dead, and even Germany, to quote a high British official, "will have to forego the emperor's assertion that he would not stop till the German flag floated over Pekin."

Policy of the Powers.

As for the other powers, it is emphatically stated that they have unanimously agreed that with the safe delivery of the ninisters the aggressive campaign will end. All rumors of an international agreement regarding the future of China subsequent o the return of the ministers are false The agreement is purely negative and based upon the lines stated by Secretary Hay, of which the independence and integ May, of which the independence and inco-rity of the Chinese empire are essential features. If the imperial edict proves true the powers, while holding their forces in readiness to enforce demands, will accept pecuniary indemnity. No territorial propo-ditions will be considered. In common with the other powers, Germany must, thro arbitration or otherwise, gauge the d ages by the loss of the life of her mini by a pecuniary standard. The same rul will apply as to the loss of other lives an destruction of property.

Authority of Minister Wu.

At the Chinese legation the Associated Press correspondent was informed that no further news from China had been received today and that it was expectedd that the ministers would soon be sent to Tien Tsin Secretary Lew expressed unstinted praise of the attitude of the United States Secretary of State, Col. Hay, and declared his implicit belief that the ministers were safe He said the negotiations with the powers on behalf of China had all been entrusted the ministers prove to be alive the Chi-nese government will to some extent use them as a lever to compel European and American missionaries and commercial enterprises to moderate their activity, if not to withdraw from the empire entirely.

BOYCOTT AGAINST LAUNDRIES. hiengo Thus Shows Its Antipathy for the Chinese.

The Chinese population of Chicago is perturbed over reports from various parts of the city that because of Caucasian antipathy aroused by the troubles in the celes-tial empire a boycott has been instituted against Chinese laundries and truck farms Wu Sung Lee, a banker in Chinatown, and probably the richest Mongolian in the city, says four laundries have been forced to uspend business during the past week, and Chinese laundrymen generally report a fallng off of 50 per cent in their business.

Banker Wu said yesterday:
"The white people think that we are in sympathy with the Boxers, and that they have our moral support. Nothing could be further from the truth. Every Chinaman in the city regrets the trouble and hopes that the foreigners have not been murdered. Some of us have even authorized the Chi-Chinese government our services and property to the end that the foreigners, especially the Americans, in China
